NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

The mission and objectives of NIJOLEE are:

- To publish, on a biannual basis, empirical and non-empirical research articles and critical literature reviews with sound theoretical basis in literacy and English education.
- To provide a platform for discussing global trends, ideas, activities and practices that shape the teaching and learning of English as a second language.

Scope and Area of Interest

The journal welcomes articles in the area of literacy, literacy education, literature, language education and English as a second language and French as a foreign language. These areas have a wide coverage. Thus, a wide array of studies and reviews are required in these areas. The Journal encourages university academics, postgraduate students, research-based organizations, librarians, publishers, curriculum experts, and authors who have developed their own theories, research-based approaches, application based reports, and innovative solutions to the teaching and learning of English language and literacy education to make good use of this opportunity.

Review Policy: The Journal Editorial Board subjects all articles received to blind peer review.

Paper Preparation and Submission Requirements

Submission

Authors are required to submit a soft copy of their articles, typed double-line spaced using Times New Roman font type with 12 font size, not exceeding 15 pages, to: nijolee9@gmail.com.
